AQUEDUCT BRIDGE PIERS.

Cannot Be Properly Repaired with the Money on Hand.

In regard to the repairs of the Aqueduct bridge a serious question has been laid before Gen. Craighill, chief of engineers, by Major Davis, the engineer in charge of the work. He has reported that pier No. 4 is in a wretched condition, and can hardly be properly repaired with the $30,000 now at his disposal.

Since the base of the pier was revealed by the pumping out of the cofferdam it has been found that the foundation has been badly undermined by the action of the rapid current and that the masonry is so seriously eroded as to be practically worthless for further use.

Gen. Craighill being undecided what to do under the circumstances, laid the matter before Acting Secretary of War Doe and at his suggestion they together visited the bridge yesterday and personally inspected the pier. The pier was found to be in a very bad state and practically useless for the support of the bridge.

Gen. Craighill thought that an entirely new pier should be built, but that such was not possible with the funds in hand. He said the bridge was perfectly safe at present and would not be endangered by the repairs. The pier will be repaired as thoroughly as possible with the funds now available, and a conference on the subject will be held to-day.

LECTURED THE WIFE.

Judge Miller Quickly and Sternly Settled the Moody's Domestic Troubles.

George Moody, a resident of West Washington, appeared in Judge Miller's court yesterday on complaint of his wife, Virginia F. Moody, who claimed in the warrant for his arrest that her husband struck her.

When called to the witness stand, the wife began to sob and said she would not prosecute her better half. Judge Miller, however, was determined to hear more of the case.

"Did he strike you?" asked his honor.
She nodded her head.

"Where?" she was asked.
"Where? I don't know the blow."

"Where were you?"
"On the Conduit road. My sister, a young man, and I, had been to a temperance meeting and were returning, when we met my husband. First he grabbed the young man and shook him, and then he came to me."

"Your honor," spoke up the defendant, "I went home from work and found my wife gone and no supper. I went to find her and meeting her at the Conduit road."

"What were you doing out with this strange young man?" sternly asked the court of the complainant.

"He was my sister's company. Jealousy prompted my husband to strike me, judge."

"Take this man's personal bonds," said Judge Miller, "and you, woman, go home and temperance meetings or no temperance meetings, have your husband's dinner ready when he returns."

The court passed out.

Estate of Isaac Shorter.
The late Isaac Shorter, by his will of April 11, 1889, which was filed yesterday, leaves all his property to his widow, Mary Shorter, with remainder to the children of his daughter, Mrs. Hannah L. Leachman.
If none should survive Mrs. Shorter the property is to go to the pastor of St.
Augustine Church.

ENEMIES OF SHADE TREES

Secretary Morton's Report on Elm Tree Beetle's Depredations.

Washington's Parks and Streets Suffer More Than Other Cities Owing to Small Appropriations.

Secretary Morton, in an interview yesterday, said:

"It is a great pity that the elm shade trees in many of our eastern cities, from Richmond north to Albany, are every year allowed to be defoliated by the imported elm tree beetle.

"By the middle of June each season many trees are left without a whole leaf.
Their general appearance is unsightly, and their vitality is rapidly seriously checked.
Experiments made in Washington and Central Park, New York, show that this insect can be very easily fought.

"Small trees are readily sprayed at the proper time (toward the end of May) with Paris green or London purple or arsenate of lead in solution, using one gallon of poison to 150 gallons of water. Larger trees may also be sprayed by means of extension hose and ladders, or, better still, by means of a small portable steam engine.

"A still easier way of treating foliage damage, however, consists in destroying the insects as they descend the trees to transform at or near the surface of the ground. The great majority of them crawl down the trunk and congregate immediately about the base of the tree.

"They then can be killed by sprinkling them with hot water or kerosene emulsion; or many of them may be killed with a roller or with a power's runner. It is true that by this method the insects are killed after the damage is done, but they are thus prevented from reproducing and from doing any further damage later in the season of the following year.

"An unfortunate condition of affairs exists in Washington. The public parks are under the direction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, while the street shade trees are in charge of a separate office, the Park Commission.

"The funds of the Park Commission, although small, have been judiciously expended, and the new appropriation becomes available only after the first of July.
The result is that during the critical months (May and June) there is seldom enough money with which to act effectively against insects on the shade trees.

"By the time the new appropriation becomes available, the second and very much larger generations of both this imported elm leaf beetle and certain other shade tree insects, such as the saw fly, are ready to make their appearance, and a much greater amount of work is necessary.

"The parks of the city are kept in good condition, but they also suffer, indirectly, from the condition of affairs just mentioned. Street shade trees border all parks and these trees, which are outside of the jurisdiction of the Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, harbor the insects of the first brood.

"The Park Commission is just shown, seldom has funds enough to destroy them, and the result is that park trees are apt to become infected by the second brood of insects coming from trees a few feet away.
This unfortunate condition of affairs is a strong argument for an increase of the appropriation to the Park Commission."

Organization of Musicians.
The Washington National Musical Orchestra and National Military Brass Band Association was incorporated yesterday.

The officers, who are also the incorporators, are: Benjie Carter, president; Charles Queen, vice president; George Grayson, secretary; George Montgomery, D. T. Chase, auditor; James F. Cox, castodian, and T. A. Washington, leader.

Mr. Pugh's New Assistant.
C. B. Elliott, a police patrolman, in the Second precinct, has been detailed by request of Assistant District Attorney Pugh to act as assistant clerk in Mr. Pugh's office in the police court. The assignment will begin this morning.

Jelly Paid for Cruelty and Profanity.
Louis Kelly, a cooper, had to pay two fines in the police court yesterday. When arrested for cruelty beating his horse, he began to swear and fume and as a consequence left $20 with the court clerk.

Kaufman's great $7.35 suit sale. M.
Kaufman, Eighth and 1 streets southeast,

NOT GUILTY OF ASSAULT.

Policeman Smith Promptly Discharged
by Judge Miller.

George J. Smith, a Fifth precinct policeman, was arraigned before Judge Miller yesterday on the charge, preferred by Edward Bentley, colored, of assault to kill. The charge was changed by the District Attorney to assault.

Smith was passing Marion Park on G street, near Sixth street, Sunday night, when he heard a scream. As there have been lately several robberies in the deserted park, the policeman came to the conclusion that there was foul play somewhere.

Leaping over the fence, he started toward where he heard the cry, when a nigger ran past him. The officer pursued, not knowing but that the man was a fugitive or murderer, fired his pistol after the fleeing man. The shot started a shortstop, for the man halted and the officer came up.

Walking back with his prisoner the policeman found it was a small child, Benley's sister, who had cried out because she caught a glimpse of the policeman.

Bentley was then released, but later produced a warrant for the policeman for assault to kill against Officer Smith.

Judge Miller promptly dismissed the case.

Rock Creek Railway Sued.
Four suits against the Rock Creek Railway Company, for a total of $20,000 damages, was begun before Chief Justice Bingham yesterday. The complainants are Messrs. Burt, Homer, Wood and Redman, owners of lots at Lamer Heights.

They charge that the railway company, without legal authority, made an excavation for roadway twenty feet deep across their property, and injured them in $5,000 each. The work was done in 1892, but the roadbed has never been used, as there were serious objections to that route.
The cut made by the excavation is noticed by passengers on the road on the right of the track near Rock Creek. The road is represented in court by Mr. Harry Davis.

OF CASH! Out of mind! Were the people you're looking for, THREE DOL-LARS isn't much, but we'll just give you an all-wed "rig" for that amount of money. FOUR DOLLARS climbs another peg, and we'll furnish a suit not only neat, but natty, for that simple sum. FIVE DOLLARS plants another round, and those $500 suits are made of Carr's Melton and will walk with the WICKEDEST and wear with the WORTHWEST. SEVEN AND A HALF DOLLARS—that's a whole heap of money, ain't it?—less so, but what do you care for it? Just one hundred sixty DOLLARS pegs another hole, and every suit you buy puts into that hole just one peg deeper. We can stand it, however, because we have had TEN YEARS OF PLENTY. We make no mention of our $5.50 suits or clothes for men because we feared you'd think we drew the line on too narrow a margin, but you'd as well know it now as later, that those $5.50 suits are made of Carr's Melton and will walk with the WICKEDEST and wear with the WORTHWEST.
